

Trash Matters

A Matterhorn game

ABOUT THE GAME

Hello! Welcome to Trash Matters! A Game about Raccoons, Trash, and the inevitable collapse of society.

It's been months since this college was deserted by humans. And no humans means no Trash! And no trash means no food for the Raccoon family! With only a short time left before all the baby raccoons die of starvation, our survival depends on our trash generator invention, The Turbo Infinite Trash-omatic, which will give us all the trash we could ever want. Therefore, you and I, Roddie Raccoon, must venture forth onto a rad quest to collect all the mechanical parts we need. But watch out!, the area is full of rude dudes who want to beat me up for alleged crimes no one can prove I committed. Are you a bad enough dude to go dumpster diving?

MEET THE CAST:

It's me! The coolest Raccoon there is! I'm a rad dude with lots of attitude, I have never done anything wrong ever, no matter what anyone else says. Are you a bad enough dude to collect trash? Let's go on a rad quest to collect trash and machine parts to find out! Fight enemies! And complete the mad money infinite trash generator machine!

Forager Rabbits are huge babies! Every time I get near one of these identical siblings they start running away! They're pretty lame and not at all tubular, but they're always holding some goodies on em, beat them up! Take their stuff!

Craig the Coyote is a wiley jerk! This sneaky son of a gun always wants to get into a fight! He's still angry about that time I stole all his food and he had to starve all winter, let it go dude. If he sees you, he'll rush at you and try to beat you up! Luckily this doggo is more bark than bite, and he doesn't put up much of a fight, and you can beat him up for his lunch.

These guys are mobsters I guess? Also moles. They say they're all in the mafia, but I've never really see them do anything until recently, and it kinda feels like they just watch to many movies. I guess their boss is upset with me or something, and they've been trying to pick a fight with me, lame. Despite being blind, these moles have weirdly good aim, and they'll use it to throw balls of mud (I hope its mud at least) at you, and they'll hide underground where you can't hit them.

Never ask a Mobster Mole for a loan as seed money for your trash machine. He starts bothering you about when your gonna come over and hang out, or pay him back his money, or give back all his stuff. He just doesn't get it, I'm a very busy guy with important things to do, I don't have time to mess around and play video games like some sort of loser. This guy is just a huge nerd, literally, he's a really big dude and packs a punch, throwing balls of mud at you at once. I'm pretty sure the other moles made him the boss because he's so big, but honestly he's kind of a pushover, but maybe he's got more cool nerd stuff we can borrow if we beat him up.
